

Tinnitus Australia (TA) is guided by the Tinnitus Australia Advisory Committee - a group of health professionals and people who are affected by Tinnitus who are interested and engaged in Tinnitus service provision and research. It is a collaboration of people working professionally, passionately, and ethically to eliminate the suffering experienced by people, their friends and families, due to tinnitus. The Committee meets regularly to shape the strategic approach of TA and provide advice to the CEO, Soundfair.

Tinnitus Australia Advisory Committee Members 2021

Dr Jason Ridgway B.A., Dip.Aud., M.Sc., PhD, GAICD, member

Dr Jason Ridgway is an audiologist who is a Senior Allied Health Adviser with the Australian Government Department of Veterans' Affairs. He has an extensive background in rehabilitative audiology, policy, government, project management and research, and works with veterans experiencing tinnitus in his role with the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Jason is interested in quality standards for diagnosing and evaluating tinnitus to help ensure that people with tinnitus receive good rehabilitation and support, and sees Tinnitus Australia as a great opportunity to improve knowledge of tinnitus in the community.

He also lives with tinnitus in his right ear following a diagnosis of otosclerosis
